

AHA serves individuals on the autism spectrum, their families, and the professionals who work with them, providing crucial resources and support as they face challenges, build on their strengths and fulfill their potential. AHA helps families and individuals become informed self-advocates. Our programs encourage awareness and acceptance.

AHA Goals:

- monthly support for family members of school age children, families of teens in transition, families of older teens and adults, teen and adult groups for individuals on the spectrum and a spouse/partner group.
- one-to-one phone and e-support
- to provide parents, professionals and individuals with a useful forum where they can exchange pertinent information.

AHA Offers:

- monthly parent/ family support meetings: daytime and evening for school-age or older teen/adult populations.
- monthly support meetings for teens and adults with HFA/AS partnered with GRASP and Spectrum Services.
- our phone and email referral for support and resources.
- guest speakers on topics relevant to autism.
- our website with valuable information and resources (ahany.org).
- bi-annual educational conferences designed to provide the most current information and strategies (member discounts).
- our publication, On The Spectrum (members only).
- our lending library (members only).

Autism is a group of diagnoses that varies in degree from mild to severe and is referred to as the autism spectrum.

As of May, 2013 the 5th edition of the Diagnostic and Statistical Manual (DSM-5) from the American Psychiatric Association consolidates previous autism spectrum diagnoses (Autism, Asperger syndrome, Pervasive Developmental Disorder, and Pervasive Developmental Disorder – NOS) under the official term Autism Spectrum Disorders.

Evaluations and literature dated prior to 2013 often use these terms interchangeably and inconsistently. We expect Asperger syndrome to continue in common usage as a unifying force within the community.

The Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA) requires that all children with disabilities have available to them a free appropriate public education (FAPE). Students on the autism spectrum may be educationally classified with any of the following pursuant to the IDEA:

- Autism
- Other Health Impairment
- Emotional Disturbance
- Learning Disability
- Speech or Language Impairment
- Multiple Disabilities

Pursuant to Part 200.13 of the Commissioner's Regulations, an "autism classification" provides specific recommendations for special education services, including parent training.

The autism spectrum is paradoxical, since, inasmuch as individuals on the spectrum are alike, they are, at the same time, very different. As author Stephen Shore noted, "When you have met one person on the autism spectrum, then you have met one person on the autism spectrum."

We encourage our members to attend our support meetings, educational presentations and conferences. Together we help raise awareness of the needs of individuals on the spectrum and their families; we acquire, share and disseminate current, and relevant information in the on-going effort to support each other.

Those on the autism spectrum will typically exhibit many of the following behaviors:

SOCIALIZATION:

- awkwardness and clumsiness
- naiveté and gullibility
- poor eye contact
- difficulty developing peer relationships
- increased risk of victimization (bullying)
- inappropriate body language or facial expression
- problems recognizing the nuances of social interaction
- difficulty understanding other's feelings or emotions but once aware will have an appropriate degree of compassion

COMMUNICATION:

- inability to maintain reciprocal (give and take) conversation
- extreme literal use and interpretation of language
- unusual speech patterns: repetitive speech, abnormal tone and/or volume, irrelevant remarks, stilted/formal manner, tendency to lecture others

BEHAVIOR & THOUGHT:

- easily upset by changes in routine
- rigid, ritualistic behavioral patterns
- fixation on one subject or object
- repetitive movements, thoughts and/or speech
- peculiar eating patterns

COMMON ASSOCIATED BEHAVIORS:

- emotional sensitivity and under/overreaction
- fears and anxiety
- hyper/hypo-sensitivity to sensory stimuli (sounds, light, taste, touch, odors, pain)
- physical awkwardness
- problems with spatial awareness
- creative thinking and unconventional problem solving
- exceptional skills (e.g., memory, music, art, math)
- sleeping difficulties
